

I think patients should choose our practice if they're interested in their oral health and they want a partner, somebody that's going to work with them to achieve the types of results that they want. Certainly our goal is not to tell you what you need to do but to help you in that journey and make recommendations so that you can make the best choices for yourself.

Our office philosophy would be similar, that we want to be part of your team, your health care team, partner with you to make yourself healthier and get the kind of care that you want to get.

It's not my job to tell you what to do but to help explain things in a thorough but simple way so that you can be well informed and do whatever's best for yourself.

One of the things we've added recently is the ability to do crowns in one day. We have some new technology that will do a digital scan of your teeth and mouth. And we can, in many cases, make a high-quality ceramic restoration while you wait and get your visit done in one session. It eliminates the need for you to have to come back multiple visits. And it's really a great service, especially when something unexpected pops up, and we can handle it right away.
